DIRECTORY OF SOVIET OFFICIALS VOLUME III: UNION REPUBLICS

A (CR 75-18)

May 1975

P R E F A C E

This Directory of Soviet Officials, Volume III: Union Republics completes the Directory of Soviet Officials series. The first volumes are the Directory of Soviet Officials, Volume I: National Organizations (A 70-17, June 1970, reissued as A 73-31, November 1973) and the Directory of Soviet Officials, Volume II: RSFSR (A 71-21, July 1971). This third volume identifies officials in selected Party, government and public organizations in the other 14 union republics, that is, in those non-Russian republics that together with the Russian Soviet Federative Socialist Republic (RSFSR) make up the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR).

Special Features. Each republic's section of the directory is preceded by a map and a fact sheet. The maps show major cities and subdivisions as well as the location of the republic within the USSR. The fact sheets provide geographic, economic and sociopolitical data. The directory pages list the officials of the major organizations of the republic. For the larger republics that contain major subdivisions known as oblasts, Party and government leaders are listed for the oblasts as well as for the republic capital city; for republics having only the smaller subdivisions known as rayons, only the leaders of the capital and other major cities are listed. A Table of Contents appears on page v and a Name Index appears on page 289.

Coverage and Nomenclature. The union republics are not uniform in the kinds of organizations they contain, and the nomenclature of similar organizations varies among the republics and between them and the national level. Thus, the sections entitled "Officials Subordinate to but not Members of the Council of Ministers" show a number of variations. The central committees of some republic Communist Parties have "foreign relations departments," while others have "departments of information and foreign relations"; the national Party apparatus in Moscow has completely different units for foreign relations and for information. The constitutions of many of the union republics state that ministers of defense or ministers of armed forces are included in the republic Councils of Ministers, but in fact the republics have no defense function.

Each republic has a legislature, or supreme soviet, which meets about twice a year for a few days. Its chairman is a figurehead, elected to preside over the current session only. Each supreme soviet has a presidium, a body empowered to issue decrees, appoint ministers, and perform other functions between legislative sessions. The chairman of the presidium is in fact the chief of state of the republic.

Directory Entries. The date appearing after an official's name is that of his election or appointment, unless it is preceded by the abbreviation "i," which means that the date is the earliest on which he was identified as holding the post. Officials who have not been identified in position since the arbitrarily chosen date 1 January 1969 have been excluded from the volume. Full names have been supplied where they are known.

Rendering of Proper Names. Proper names are taken from their Russian spelling, regardless of the national language of the republic, and are transliterated according to the system authorized by the Board on Geographic Names (BGN). Exceptions are the city of Kiev (BGN spelling would be Kiyev) and the names of the republics themselves, which reflect accepted Westernized forms ("Lithuania" for Litva, "Georgia" for Gruziya, etc.).

Date of Information. Information in this volume is current as of 1 December 1974.
